Peter Engel, Inc.,
415 E. 31st St.,
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

May I say a few words regarding the enclosed booklet and the reasons for sending it to you?

First, let me reassure you on one point: The booklet asks nothing of you. It neither begs you to buy nor urges you to invest. It merely places before you, without strings or conditions, a new opportunity to add profits to your business. That and nothing more.

"Correct Furniture" is something in which we have a common interest. We make it and you need it to carry on your business. The booklet shows how, in the future, you may enjoy full use of the entire line of "Correct Furniture" whenever you need it, without contributing any of your own capital or floor space.

I have just seen the new display, in a separate section of the A.H.Stiehl Furniture Co., and my enthusiasm prompts me to predict that LINCOLN-ORINOCO IN NEW YORK will prove to be the most important sales-making help that has yet been devised for the better furniture dealer and decorator.

Offered on a direct-factory basis this exclusive line, backed by the understanding service of the Stiehl organization, gives you every opportunity for full profit--and the display is permanent, so I hope you will call often with your clients--but don't wait, you should learn of the profit-possibilities of this new opportunity at once. I am enclosing my personal invitation.

Very sincerely yours,

W. H. Lincoln

President.

Correct Furniture

FORTY years ago, Mr. W. H. Lincoln, the present head of the Lincoln-Orinoco Organization, entered the ranks of American Furniture Makers and adopted this slogan: "Correct Furniture ONLY." The slogan and the ideal behind it have endured to this day. In spite of contrary trends which have influenced others, Lincoln-Orinoco Furniture is today, more than ever, Correct Furniture—correct in style, correct in materials and correct in the making. Absolutely unaffected by the modern tendency toward "less care and greater volume," this product continues to be, what Mr. Lincoln, forty years ago, conceived it should be—the best furniture that America could produce.

For two generations, both here and abroad, Lincoln-Orinoco Furniture has been the choice for homes of culture—homes where only truly artistic forms and excellence in craftsmanship could be introduced.

Confined, as it was heretofore, to certain exclusive shops in each territory, Lincoln-Orinoco Furniture has not been available to the trade generally, but now, with the advent of Lincoln-Orinoco in New York, it is our privilege to offer you, on a direct-factory basis, full access to this justly renowned line, to sell to your customers from our showroom floors. In addition, our complete selling and delivery organization of twenty-one years' training, is placed at your disposal.

We consider it indeed an honor to be known as distributors of a product so pre-eminent in its field and we take unusual pride in extending to you a cordial invitation to pay us a visit of inspection. You will find a furniture showroom that goes far beyond the ordinary conception of the term, and one that will be of real benefit to your business in the future.
